To everything there is a season and a time to every purpose under the heaven – Ecclesiastes 3:1

As the years pass at Trinity, the amount of people who enter one's life grows. Some stay for a season, others remain in the story for quite a while. Early in my career I was given the opportunity to collaborate with a called educator who worked as a principal. Her ministry blessed Trinity for a year, but knowing she was full of knowledge I always tried to sit and ask as many questions as I could. Ecclesiastes 3:1 was Ms. Barbara Chinn Sinn's most favorite Bible verse. As a mentor she made it a point for others to realize to enjoy the present. God wants us to live in the now, not worry about the future or stress about what has already happened. We need to have faith that the current is all part of His plan; it may last for a short time, but it may stay awhile. While experiencing the present, it's important we enjoy His blessings. Seeing the children each day with smiles on their faces and our teachers delivering lessons with God's love surely reminds one to focus on the present.

In His Service,

*Ms. Tammy Mazza
Acting Principal*
